

As I crabbed on Cambridge creek
I fantasized that I was in love
And that she loved me back

And when I wept
she wiped my tears away;
And when I need hugs
She hugged me

then one day
My fantasy was no longer a fantasy But by then my youth was over by Barry Wyatt